

Evening Telegraph

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1864.

SPIRIT OF THE NEW YORK PRESS.

Leading Editorials from the New York Papers This Morning.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE OPPOSITION.

From Times.

The body of the Opposition accept the decision in favor of President Lincoln with a general acquiescence. Some of their newspapers are full of spite; but, apparently, this is little else. The great mass of those who voted for General McClellan had reverence and respect for the will of the majority, and voted with those good feelings and good motives.

This is an excellent sign. It betokens that the point-at-issue with the Slaveholders has passed, and that we may now proceed with a frank and generous administration for the success of the Government. It must, however, become the real task of the Democratic party, in its place, to decide, in its own interest, what will have to be done to facilitate management never to exceed the bounds of moderation.

THE LITTLE RUGEL-WALL NEWS.

THE STRONG IN CANTONMENT.—The course of the 20 states that the enemy are still holding is not clear, but we can see that the administration of the country over which they now preside is far from being successful.

The Army of the Potomac is now proceeding on the march to the south with that Divine intent.

The 20 states that the enemy are still holding are not in a position to do more than to sustain the cause.

All this can be done by recognizing the right of the independent Confederacy.

THE NEW YORK HERALD-WALL NEWS.

THE NEW YORK HERALD-WALL NEWS.